Welcome to the Irish Impact Social Entrepreneurship Conference 2013!

We were elated with the tremendous energy at last year’s event—generated by practitioners, Notre Dame faculty and staff, and most importantly, Notre Dame students. It reinforced the idea that WE ARE ND! With such momentum initiated, we knew that the inaugural Irish Impact Social Entrepreneurship Conference would be the first of many.

It’s one year later, and we promise that the 2013 conference will be bigger, yes, but in many important ways, even better. We have a focused program for practitioners and students alike, and want to take a moment to thank the many practitioners who are leaving their entrepreneurial pursuits to spend a few days sharing their narratives with the wider Notre Dame community.

In addition, we are blessed to have tremendous support for Irish Impact 2013 from The Robert L. (ND ’65) and Frances J. Zielsdorf Family. More detail is provided about the Zielsdorf Family on the opposite page, as well as the many social concerns their family supports. We are grateful that they view social entrepreneurship as we do – as an engine providing access through opportunity, whether through microcredit, health-care initiatives, technical assistance and training, education, the food movement or the environment. Business is our tool, but social entrepreneurs represent many industries, disciplines and models. It is our intention to share those models with our students.

In addition to the on-campus conference program, we hope you will stay in touch with us virtually. We have established various social media channels for that very purpose. We have been tweeting about the conference and the world of social entrepreneurship for many weeks now, updating our Facebook page, posting social entrepreneurship profiles to our blog, and launching our new Irish Impact microsite. We will be refreshing content on a consistent basis, and invite you to continue the conference dialogue for many months after the event is successfully completed.

Finally, we ask you to tell us about YOUR Irish Impact in the form of a video that will be posted to our YouTube channel. For details and the chance to win an iPad Mini, please visit http://irishimpact.wordpress.com/2013/09/13/whats-your-irish-impact/.

The Notre Dame Family (and extended family) is changing the world, and that includes YOU!

What’s Your Irish Impact?

Founder, Fellow Irish Social Hub, Inc.
The Gigot Center for Entrepreneurship was founded in 1998 for the purpose of fostering innovation and infusing aspiring entrepreneurs with a sense of the possible. Through rigorous coursework, our business plan competitions, extensive networking and mentorship, and hands-on learning experiences, we provide students and the Notre Dame community with the knowledge and necessary skills so vital to entrepreneurship.

We seek to develop individuals who have a vision for a for-profit venture, as well as “intrapreneurs” who seek to bring innovation to an existing enterprise. And in keeping with the Mendoza College mission to Ask More of Business™, the Gigot Center actively supports the social entrepreneur who uses business skills and knowledge to serve the greater good.

The Gigot Center is associated with the Mendoza College of Business Department of Management.

The Fellow Irish Social Hub, or FISH Inc., is an independent, nonprofit organization that invites University of Notre Dame students, faculty, administrators and alumni, as well as local community members to develop socially innovative ideas into for-purpose enterprises. FISH provides a full suite of incubation services to promising social entrepreneurs through a centralized infrastructure. This support hub connects inspired intellectual and human capital with vital sources of professional and financial capital to deliver positive, sustainable change to the afflicted populations amongst us.
IRISH IMPACT AWARDS

The Irish Impact Awards recognize an institutional or community partner, distinguished alumni, faculty, administrator and/or student who have demonstrated entrepreneurial spirit and significant social impact.

The award recipients embody the multitudinal topics from this conference – from startup and incubation issues to scaling and partnerships. These social entrepreneurs have built social innovations from the ground up, created scalable and replicable social impact, fought for financial sustainability, and acted as true transformational change agents, partnering with universities, government, businesses and/or non-governmental organizations. These practitioners are impassioned and visionary, but also down-to-earth individuals.

Award winners will be announced at the opening reception on Wednesday evening, October 2, and will be included in the Irish Impact Hall of Fame.

ZIELSDORF FAMILY PITCH COMPETITION

Every social enterprise – whether for-profit or nonprofit – requires startup funding. As a result, the Irish Impact Social Entrepreneurship Conference has assembled a panel of expert judges to hear live funding pitches from a select group of seasoned social entrepreneurs.

These social enterprise practitioners will attempt to convey specific needs as they seek to tackle a broad array of global challenges. Conversely, the judges will be asked to evaluate each presentation upon magnitude of social impact and probability of success.

The investment pitch session will provide a glimpse into the world of social venture finance, and winners for the combined prizes of $8,000 will be announced at the opening reception on Wednesday evening, October 2.

Join us to see who will jump-start their mission with Irish Impact!

IRISH IMPACT OPPORTUNITY FAIR

Remember your high school science fairs, where students stood next to their carefully constructed exhibits, eager to talk about their big idea that was going to revolutionize the world?

This first-person experience is the idea behind the Irish Impact Opportunity Fair, a “science fair” for social entrepreneurs to pitch their enterprises to interested Conference registrants, Notre Dame faculty/staff, and, most importantly, students. Social enterprise practitioners will be on hand to discuss their “big ideas” personally with interested guests, describing their ventures and the lives they are impacting through the use of photos, videos, visual displays – and most compelling of all – the telling of their own stories. Just a small sampling of practitioner organizations include CE Solutions/SE Corps, WORN, Union Microfinanza, Accion Chicago, Jordan Energy/Let’s Share the Sun Foundation, iNTELLISHARE, Better Futures Minnesota, Energy Central Haiti, Njambre Accelerator, and many more.

In an atmosphere of energy and lively interaction, the fair also provides social entrepreneurs with a great opportunity for networking with influential members of the Notre Dame Community, as well as for recruiting volunteers, interns and/or full-time employees interested in social enterprise organizations.
WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 2

All conference attendees welcome; students welcome to attend sessions as classes allow

7:00 – 9:00 a.m.  Continental Breakfast available at practitioner and guest hotels | Guest Hotels

9:00 – 10:00 a.m.  Plenary Session I: A Social Entrepreneur’s Narrative – Making it Happen! (the Good, the Bad, and Ugly) | Stayer Center Commons B
Fireside chat with Shivani Siroya on social entrepreneurial best practices, business modeling, and funding your model. Siroya is the founder and CEO of InVenture, which facilitates financial access by providing simple mobile accounting and credit scoring tools for offline and unbanked individuals. InVenture’s work has been recognized by USAID, TED, Economist, Vodafone, Bloomberg, and Forbes. Siroya is a 2013 TED Fellow, 2011 Echoing Green Fellow and 2011 Unreasonable Institute Fellow. She also is a blogger for the Huffington Post, and on the board of the LA Chapter of Young Women Social Entrepreneurs. Siroya holds a MPH from Columbia University and a BA from Wesleyan University.

10:00 – 10:15 a.m.  Hospitality Break | Stayer Center Commons B

10:15 – 11:30 a.m.  Funding Strategy Workshop I: Deep Dive - Crowdfunding | Stayer Center Rooms 210 / 213
This workshop will shatter the myths about crowdfunding and show that the “build it and they will donate” expectations are doomed for disappointment. However, there is a way to strategically leverage online tools to raise money. The workshop will step participants through the process so that when they leave, they will be able to create a reasonable online fundraising plan. Presented by Dan Morrison, Chief Do-Gooder at Imagine Social Good, a consulting firm focused on making sure social innovators achieve the change they want to see in the world through sound business models and cost-effective digital marketing. Dan is the founder of Citizen Effect, a digital crowdfunding platform that allowed anyone to mobilize their friends and family to complete a small but critical project for a community in need. Dan will be joined by Clarence Wardell, founder of tinyGive, which changes the conversation around philanthropy and online cause-related activity by providing a place where social capital matters just as much as the amount you give. Clarence earned a Ph.D. from the Georgia Institute of Technology, where he conducted research on the role of transparency in charitable giving.

Funding Strategy Workshop II: Panel
Facilitated by Andy McKenna, a director with the Chicago-based IrishAngels and chair of this investing organization’s Social Enterprise Sector Committee, the panel will be of interest to practitioners and students alike who are trying to maximize their funding strategy, and will include an eclectic group of funding gurus representing angel investing, social enterprises, and accelerators, namely Michaela Murray Nolan, president of KidsCorp, a nonprofit that had to pivot from traditional philanthropy to earned revenue models; David Murphy, former CEO of Better World Books and current associate dean for Entrepreneurship in the Colleges of Science and Engineering at Notre Dame; Paula Cardenau, co-founder and director of Njambre, the first Impact Innovation Enterprises Builder and Accelerator in the Southern Cone, and social enterprise advisor to Ashoka; and Tim Rann, former CEO of Hagar Social Enterprise Group in Cambodia and currently an impact investment consultant in emerging markets.
11:30– 12:45 p.m. Luncheon | Mendoza Atrium

1:00– 2:00 p.m. Plenary Session II: Social Impact in the For Impact Organization | Stayer Center Commons B
Tom Suddes founded the Suddes Group in 1983 and has raised more than $1 billion for organizations around the world, run more than 400 successful campaigns, and transformed 5,000-plus organizations through Suddes’ unique consulting approach. Clients—who range from colleges and universities to startups to Ashoka Fellows—describe the approach as refreshing, non-traditional and entrepreneurial, resulting in return on investment that can be communicated into lives saved, lives changed and lives impacted.

2:00– 3:15 p.m. Social Impact Workshop I: Deep Dive – Scaling Up for Social Impact | Stayer Center Rooms 210 / 213
Paula Cardenau will lead this workshop, taking practitioners and students through the many market-based approaches and social enterprise case studies she has been witness to as an integrator and regional director for Ashoka, and now co-founder and director of her own social enterprise accelerator in Latin America. Cardenau will address hybrid models and the innovations emerging from this new paradigm, including business model design, team and governance; value chains designed to serve social and environmental impact; the importance of co-creation with communities the social business intends to serve; and the general challenges and opportunities for social enterprises.

Social Impact Workshop II – Panel
Brendan Maher, founder and director of Fellow Irish Social Hub (FISH), will moderate this panel of impact investors, investees and academicians. How do you show social impact at the same time that you are managing Return on Investment (ROI)? Can you truly do both? Panelists will include Alexandra LaForge of Investors’ Circle, which represents a network of more than 200 angel investors, professional venture capitalists, foundations, family offices and others who are using private capital to promote the transition to a sustainable economy; Dr. Mary Beckman, associate director at Notre Dame’s Center for Social Concerns and noted authority on “maximizing the impact of community-based research;” Sean McGee, co-founder of Cause Impact, which helps organizations identify, evaluate and optimize their social impact for more than a decade; and Robin Koskinen of Intellishare, a social enterprise dedicated to helping teachers, parents and school administrators improve learning outcomes.

3:15– 5:15 p.m. Social Enterprise Tours | Mendoza Atrium
Conference registrants will visit one of two social enterprise organizations: Better World Books or Hannah & Friends/Green Bridge Growers. Better World Books, a home-grown for-profit social venture founded by three Notre Dame alums, promotes and facilitates literacy efforts around the world. Hannah & Friends offers residential opportunities for adults with developmental disabilities, as well as recreational programs for children and adults with special needs. Green Bridge Growers, winners of the Greatest Social Impact prize in the Gigot Center’s annual business plan competition, is a startup social enterprise that provides jobs and hope for young people with autism, as well as fresh, wholesome food for commercial sale. Green Bridge’s first aquaponics prototype and training program is housed at Hannah & Friends Farm. Buses will be provided. Please meet in the Mendoza Atrium. Seating is limited, and we expect both tours will be seated to capacity. For those who prefer a tour of campus and/or are not able to participate in one of the social enterprise tours, a guided tour of the campus will be available, which will leave at the same time and same meeting location.

5:30 – 6:45 p.m.  Keynote Address with David Bornstein
Getting Smarter About Change: Social Entrepreneurship’s Age of Enlightenment  | Mendoza Jordan Auditorium

David Bornstein is a journalist and author who focuses on social innovation. He co-authors the “Fixes” column in The New York Times Opinionator section, which explores and analyzes potential solutions to major social problems. He is the co-founder of the Solutions Journalism Network, which supports journalists who report on constructive responses to social problems. His books include “How to Change the World: Social Entrepreneurs and the Power of New Ideas,” “The Price of a Dream: The Story of the Grameen Bank,” and “Social Entrepreneurship: What Everyone Needs to Know.” He is currently completing a book on social innovation in the U.S. and Canada. He lives in New York.

Conference attendees may enjoy dinner on their own at any of the local restaurants at Eddy Street Commons or in Downtown South Bend. A list of popular locations is provided in your welcome packet.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 4  STUDENT-CENTRIC PROGRAM

8:00 – 8:45 a.m.  Breakfast  | Mendoza Atrium

Hot breakfast to help students get out of bed!

All students and conference attendees may attend sessions below and/or legal sessions

8:45 – 10:15 a.m.  Opportunity Fair  | Mendoza Giovanini Commons

Very simply, think of a “science fair” environment for social entrepreneurs to pitch a new venture idea and obtain valuable feedback; further discuss and share their social enterprise organization with interested students, faculty and staff; network with a pool of potential investors and influential members of the Notre Dame community; and, importantly, recruit volunteers, interns and/or full-time employees to your social enterprise organization! Who should attend? EVERYONE – practitioners, students, faculty, staff, community members, funders and alumni! Coffee and continental breakfast available for anyone who didn’t make it out of bed in time for breakfast!!!

8:30 – 12:00 noon  Legal Issues Session I – Traditional For-Profit & Nonprofit/Tax-Exempt Entities
Legal Issues Session II – New/Emerging Entity Types for Hybrid Ventures
Legal Issues Session III – Legal Aspects of Funding Social Ventures  | Mendoza Room 133

Module 3 (of eight total) in the USASBE Certificate in Social Entrepreneurship. This workshop is designed for those who are attending the conference and who have registered for the Certificate program through USASBE. However, due to the nature of this content and the overall interest by practitioners, students and other registrants, we are opening this module up for anyone interested in attending these sessions. Certificate registrants must attend all three parts to complete the certificate.

Session I will be delivered from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. Session II will be delivered from 9:45 to 10:45 a.m. and Session III will be delivered from 11:00 to 12:00 p.m.

Workshop presenters include the esteemed team of John Tyler, general counsel of the Kauffman Foundation, a Notre Dame alum (both undergrad and law school) and a nationally-known authority on emerging forms of business for social ventures and related legal issues; Anthony Luppino, professor of Urban Affairs at the University of Missouri Kansas City (UMKC) School of Law, director of the Graduate Tax Law Program, and teaching fellow for the UMKC Regnier Institute for Entrepreneurship and Innovation; and Lloyd Mayer, associate dean and professor of law at Notre Dame Law School, who in addition to teaching in the ND Law School, lectures at the Mendoza College of Business on legal issues facing nonprofit organizations. Professor Mayer’s areas of research interest and expertise include advocacy by nonprofit organizations, the growing intersection of election law and tax law with respect to lobbying and other political activity, and the role of nonprofits both domestically and internationally.

10:15 – 11:15 a.m. Plenary Session III: The Social Entrepreneur – Lone Hero(s)? | Stayer Center Commons B
Featuring Schwab Social Entrepreneur of the Year and Ashoka Fellow Greg Van Kirk and co-founder George “Bucky” Glickley of Community Enterprise Solutions and Social Entrepreneur Corps. Their work in Guatemala, Ecuador, Nicaragua, the DR, Peru and South Africa with their innovative MicroConsignment Model has been recognized by Ashoka, The New York Times, Forbes, CNN Money, Clinton Global Initiative and Siemens Foundation, to name just a few. How does an enterprise that started as a wood-burning stove project in Guatemala go to scale in Latin America and Africa, while sustaining and maintaining integrity at the local level? For these two founders, “to get people out of poverty, it’s not just about creating jobs nor is it just about providing education, but it’s about providing access to resources.” Winner of the inaugural Irish Impact Community Partnership Award in 2012, Community Enterprise Solutions works tirelessly with students across the country through university partnerships and its signature internship and flexible volunteering programs, Social Entrepreneur Corps. Whether interested in learning about startups, scaling, sustainable partnerships, or international and economic development, this is a not-to-be missed session with two highly regarded and recognized social entrepreneurs.

11:15 a.m. – 12:30 p.m. Panel Discussion: The Social Entrepreneur – Lone Hero(s)? | Stayer Center Commons B
A continuation of the plenary session, Dan Morrison, Chief Do-Gooder at Imagine Social Good, will moderate this panel of social entrepreneurs including Chris Yura, founder and CEO of SustainU, an apparel company that is changing the way clothes are made; Shawn Humphrey, professor at the University of Mary Washington and founder of Two Dollar Challenge, La Ceiba Microfinance, Month of Microfinance, and Poverty Action Conference; Paula Cardenau, co-founder and director of Njambra, the first Impact Innovation Enterpriser Builder and Accelerator in the Southern Cone; and Adam Osielski, co-founder of Energy Central, which is solving the problem of costly, unreliable energy in Haiti. These formidable and experienced panelists will provide insights into their personal journeys as social entrepreneurs. The session is a must for any students/budding social entrepreneurs. It’s sure to provide plenty of inspiration!

12:30 – 1:30 p.m. Taste of Michiana Luncheon | Mendoza Atrium/Courtyard
Participants will sample treats from food entrepreneurs located in South Bend, Granger and Mishawaka, Ind. Most of these entrepreneurs have worked with Gigot’s Microventure Consulting course. Enjoy such delectables as Chicago-style hot dogs, Mexican burritos, barbecue, healthy salads and sandwiches, homemade Mexican ice cream bars and petit fours from Indulgence Café, Thyme of Grace Restaurant, Wakadog, Taste of Mexico, The Rib Shack, and La Rosita Paleteria.
1:30– 2:30 p.m.  Plenary Session IV: Corporate America’s Social “Intrapreneur”  |  Mendoza Jordan Auditorium
Want to learn more about the challenges and opportunities associated with social entrepreneurship in the corporate sector? Stephen Keppel is an economist, writer and producer with a focus on the Americas and a passion for innovation and empowerment. He is currently director of Empowerment Initiatives at Univision News, overseeing the expansion and development of Univision’s social campaigns including launching a $20 million health initiative and implementing/executing a $500,000 Ford Foundation grant to enhance Univision’s reporting on immigration, financial inclusion, education and LGBT issues. He also is overseeing the creation of pro-social initiatives for Fusion, Univision’s new English-language network with ABC. Keppel is a Notre Dame alum (business) and hold a master’s degree in international affairs from Columbia University. He writes and speaks about economics, the Americas and entrepreneurship and his work has been featured on Univision, NPR, the BBC, The Economist, Poder Magazine and the Huffington Post.

1:30– 4:30 p.m.  Opportunity Recognition Module/Workshop  |  Mendoza Room 133
Module 2 (of eight total) in the USASBE Certificate in Social Entrepreneurship, which is ideally suited for faculty who are considering teaching a new course in Social Entrepreneurship or others who wish to improve a current course with state-of-the-art curriculum enhancements. Terri Barreiro, director of the D. McNeely Center for Entrepreneurship at St. John’s University, will lead this workshop.

2:30– 2:45 p.m.  Hospitality Break  |  Mendoza Atrium
Refreshments will be available throughout the afternoon in MBA Wing.

2:45– 4:00 p.m.  Panel Discussion: Corporate Social Entrepreneurship: The New Frontier  |  Mendoza Jordan Auditorium
Moderated by Frank Belatti, adjunct faculty in the Social Entrepreneurship Program at the Mendoza College of Business’ Gigot Center for Entrepreneurship and managing partner with Equicorp Partners in Atlanta, this panel will feature Gaylene Anderson, senior licensing officer for Cleveland Clinic Innovations; Sam Awad, senior managing director with Accenture and an Accenture Foundation board member; Jim Reimer, a recently retired vice president of Cargill Salt, who is contributing the first years of his retirement to Notre Dame’s Haiti Program; and Jimmy Bettcher, strategic analyst and project manager in corporate responsibility at Cummins, Inc.

We hope that every participant leaves the Irish Impact Social Entrepreneurship Conference inspired and with the conviction that YOU can effect change. Whether in a for-profit or nonprofit environment, a small organization or a multinational corporation, as an employee or leader of your own startup, YOUR VISION can impact the human community for the better.

What are your next steps? Here are some resources to help answer that “what’s next” question.

Take advantage of the curricular and non-curricular programs through the Gigot Center for Entrepreneurship. Here are some particular suggestions:

- Enroll in entrepreneurship, social entrepreneurship courses, and/or the Social Entrepreneurship Certificate Program. There is a new minor in entrepreneurship for undergraduate business students, and several other classes are open to non-business majors, as well, and may offer a paid internship opportunity in a domestic or developing country setting. For details, visit http://business.nd.edu/gigot_center/Social_Entrepreneurship/MicroVenturing_Certificate/.

- Enter a team in the McCloskey Business Plan Competition! The annual Notre Dame New Venture Competitions provide a tremendous opportunity for entrepreneurial-minded members of the Notre Dame community to foster new business development, while networking with members of the IrishAngels, the Irish Entrepreneurs Network, alumni and friends. The competition awards nearly $300,000 in cash and prizes in categories for for-profits and not-for-profits. Visit the competition website at http://business.nd.edu/gigot_center/competitions/.

FISH offers incubation services to social entrepreneurs ready to launch their ventures. Check out FISH’s website at http://www.ndfish.org/index.php. In partnership with Innovation Park at Notre Dame, FISH provides world-class facilities and critical occupational services, as well as valuable research and development tools. Its nine-month business incubator program is designed to prepare each client to launch a social enterprise and to maximize its social impact. FISH clients often work in tandem with the Gigot Center and its resources, including the McCloskey Business Plan Competition.

Not ready to start your own enterprise? No problem! Join one of the following student clubs on campus and get involved with one of their projects:

- Student International Business Council – Global Development Division creates social awareness and promotes development in impoverished communities around the world through projects that deliver innovative business solutions to communities’ most fundamental problems.

- Net Impact is part of the nonprofit’s mission to make a positive impact on society by growing and strengthening a community of leaders who use business to improve the world.

- Enactus is a community of student, academic and business leaders committed to using the power of entrepreneurial action to transform lives and shape a better, more sustainable world.

Looking for an internship with a social enterprise?

- Global Internship Initiative Funding Programs offers a variety of funding opportunities for sophomore and junior students from a range of majors. Students must have an internship secured to apply for funds. Visit the Career Center website for details: http://careercenter.nd.edu

- The Kellogg Institute of International Studies, founded to promote research, provide exceptional educational opportunities and build linkages to support the University’s strategic goals on internationalization, offers undergraduate and graduate students internship and fellowship opportunities. kellogg.nd.edu/students/index.shtml

The Center for Social Concerns offers international and domestic internship opportunities to undergraduate students through its Summer Service Learning Program (SSLP) and International Summer Service Learning Program (ISSLP). Several of these opportunities are offered in partnership with the Gigot Center for Entrepreneurship. socialconcerns.nd.edu/academic/summer/summer.shtml

Want to examine other curricular opportunities at Notre Dame? Think about peace studies, poverty studies, international development studies, sustainability, or some other cool opportunities.

Want to look outside Notre Dame for opportunities? Don’t hesitate to follow up with the practitioners you met at the conference, but also consider research via the following organizations:

Ashoka U is an initiative of Ashoka that is focused exclusively on universities, seeking to engage students in the kind of work that will be necessary to confront current and future social challenges. www.ashokau.org

Through the use of philanthropic capital to make disciplined investments, the Acumen Fund supports pioneering entrepreneurs focused on finding solutions to poverty by offering critical services at affordable prices. www.acumenfund.org

Jeff Skoll, the first full-time employee and first president of eBay, created the Skoll Foundation in 1999. Skoll has awarded more than $315 million, including investments in 91 social entrepreneurs and 74 organizations on five continents. www.skollfoundation.org

B-Lab certifies B-Corporations - organizations meeting comprehensive and transparent social and environmental performance measures, as well as higher legal accountability standards, among other criteria. www.bcorporation.net

Social Entrepreneur Corps, a sister organization to CE Solutions, is a social enterprise that leads innovative and dynamic international internship programs in Guatemala, Ecuador, Nicaragua, South Africa, Peru and the Dominican Republic. www.socialentrepreneurcorps.com

Global Brigades offers university students and professionals nine skills-based international volunteer programs, which facilitate sustainable solutions in under resourced communities while fostering local cultures. www.globalbrigades.org

Interested in traveling to an exotic country while giving back? HANDS is offering affordable, impact-driven programs in Guatemala and El Salvador. Spend your vacation exploring new lands while volunteering. Check out their programs and apply now! Program costs start at $230/week and financial aid is available. Don’t miss this life changing opportunity and make an impact through volunteerism! http://handsorganization.org/

Finally, stay in touch with us through Irish Impact! This is not just a conference, but a virtual opportunity to connect with us and others through our YouTube, Facebook, Twitter, Blog and website – not just once a year but all year long! Check back in for profiles of social entrepreneurs (ND and others), calendar events at Notre Dame or elsewhere, news and information, or better yet, feel free to send information to us about noteworthy social enterprise happenings and we’ll post for you!
